TO THE CONSTITUTION OF THE AMERICAN LEGION

For God and Country, we associate ourselves together for the following purposes: To uphold and defend the Constitution of the United States of America; to maintain law and order; to foster and perpetuate a one hundred per cent Americanism; to preserve the memories and incidents of our association in the great war; to inculcate a sense of individual obligation to the community, state and nation; to combat the autocracy of both the classes and the masses; to make right the master of might; to promote peace and good will on earth; to safeguard and transmit to posterity the principles of justice, freedom and democracy; to consecrate and sanctify our comradeship by our devotion to mutual helpfulness.

THE AMERICAN LEGION

OFFICE OF THE NATIONAL COMMANDER
INDIANAPOLIS, INDIANA

To those in attendance at the Twenty-third Annual National Convention of The American Legion -

Hers to Milwaukee, one of the great cities of our beloved country, we have come by the thousands, to the "crossroads at the middle of the trunk", in America's life, a representative of a million and one hundred thousand members of The American Legion in every community of our land.

Twenty-three years ago we served Flag and Country in the middle of the trunk in time of National emergency and World War. We are proud that our armed forces legion to have performed that service. During the years that have followed we have continued to serve in peace, and in time of crisis. We are proud that we were priviileged to serve in that service, and in time of ever-changing crises, and of our record of that service.

While all that is behind us and we must ever look ahead, it gives us, as the greatest veterans organization of all times, the strength and vigor of adulthood and the coordinated energies of tested experience, which is so much needed in time of crisis.

Milwaukee facing courageously the problems and trials which lie ahead is a nation's pride. Rekindling the fire of our comradeship and renewing our associations together, we enter into our deliberations bravely and boldly, without scrutiny or prejudice, solely with the thought of serving God and Country.

On behalf of your National Organization I bid you welcome to our Twenty-third Annual National Convention.

Milo J. Warner

MILO J. WARNER, National Commander

JULIUS P. HEIL, Governor of Wisconsin

STATE OF WISCONSIN
EXECUTIVE OFFICE
MADISON

July 8, 1941

Members of the American Legion:
In welcoming the members of the American Legion to Milwaukee and Wisconsin, I, as Governor, wish to pay tribute to that brave generation of fine fighting men who offered to their all for Democracy in the last World War.

From the days of Valley Forge to the present day Milwaukee and Wisconsin have given of themselves to the lowest, to the first and highest places in the world. The American Legion helped to make it that way and to keep it that way.

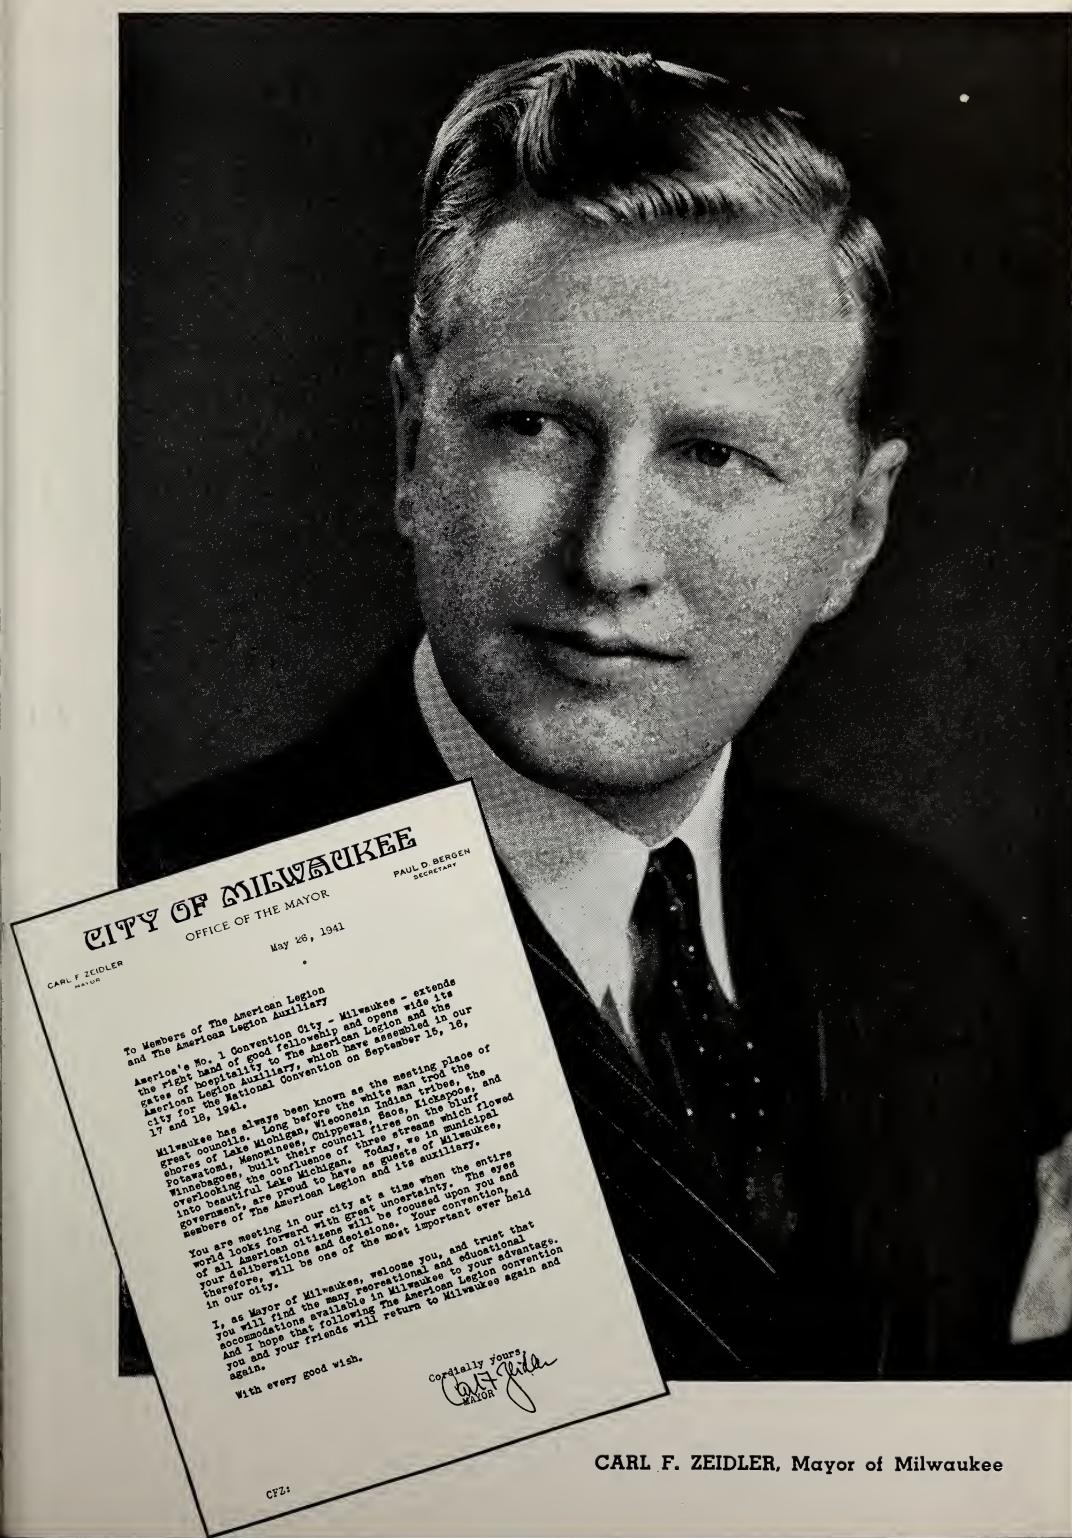

Wisconsin is thrilled by this vast assemblage of true patriots from every state in the Union, from the insular possessions, and from neighboring countries.

What a splendid thing it is that you can meet peacefully and in the carnival spirit of a time when the very spirit of Democracy is being threatened from beyond the seas. This is a serious and solemn hour and the eyes of the nation are on the American Legion for guidance and leadership.

The Badger state and Milwaukee are noted for their hospitality and geniality. We want everyone of you to enjoy them to the fullest extent.

Proudly we greet you.

Julius P. Heil
Governor of Wisconsin

CARL F. ZEIDLER
MAYOR

CITY OF MILWAUKEE

OFFICE OF THE MAYOR

May 26, 1941

SECRETARY

To Members of The American Legion and The American Legion Auxiliary America's No. 1 Convention City - Milwaukee - extends the right hand of good fellowship to The American Legion and the American Legion Auxiliary, which have assembled in the city for the National Convention on September 16, 18, 17 and 18, 1941.

Milwaukee has always been known as the meeting place of great councils. Long before the white man trod the shores of Lake Michigan, the Algonquin Indian tribes of Potawatamies, Menominees, Chippewas, Sacs, Kickapoos, and Winnebagos, built their council fires on the bluffs and overlooking the confluence of three streams which now flow into beautiful Lake Michigan. Today, we are proud to have at our Legion and its auxiliary,

You are meeting forward with great interest when the entire world looks forward with great uncertainty. The eyes of all American citizens will be focused upon you and therefore, will be one of the most important ever held in our city.

I, as Mayor of Milwaukee, welcome you and the many recreational and educational accommodations available in Milwaukee to your advantage.
And I hope that following the American Legion convention, you and your friends will return to Milwaukee again and again.

With every good wish,

Cordially yours,
Carl F. Zeidler

We, of Wisconsin and Milwaukee, are proud to be hosts to the greatest patriotic cross-section of American life. We know that The American Legion has been the most potent single factor during the past twenty-three years in the preservation of democratic ideals and institutions.

International complications tend now more than ever before to focus the spotlight of public attention on the convention sessions. We know that the Legion will maintain the high plane of leadership that it has manifested in the past. We await with keen anticipation the results of your deliberations. Our citizenry, with a background of many nationalities, is thoroughly American and appreciates the Legion's courageous defense of the best interests of our country.

We have prided ourselves as a state and city on our vacation facilities and our hospitality. We have earnestly tried to make your stay a most pleasant one. We are confident that our efforts will be productive of most pleasant results.
